How to Measure Your Ring Size

You need: string or paper strip + ruler.

> Step 1: Wrap string around your finger at the base, below the knuckle.
> Step 2: Mark where the string overlaps.
> Step 3: Measure the length in mm. That is your circumference.
> Step 4: Match it to the chart above.

> Pro tips: Measure in the evening (fingers are largest). Measure at room temperature. Take 2 readings on different days and average. At sizes 2-4, half a size = less than 1.3mm.

Bracelet Sizing Formula

Your wrist (cm) + 1.5cm = Perfect bracelet length

If your wrist is 13cm, your ideal bracelet is 14.5cm. Not 16cm. Standard "small" bracelets are still 2-4cm too big for you.

5 Rules for Petite Jewelry

1. Band width under 2mm

On a size 2-3 finger, a 1mm band looks elegant. A 4mm band overwhelms.

2. Stones under 0.5ct

Large stones overpower small fingers. Bezel settings sit lower and snag less.

3. Stack thin rings

Layer 2-3 delicate bands (1-1.5mm each) instead of one thick ring.

4. Try the anklet hack

Adjustable anklets cinch down to 14-15cm. Same chain weight, perfect for thin wrists.

5. Japanese brands first

If you need size 1-3, start with Japanese brands. They have the widest selection.
